* This sum includes some bad and some doubtful debts.

† This sum conforms to the Books of the Bank, but it is believed by the Directors, that a large sum in old bills, either lost by fire, errors in accounts, or otherwise, are not in circulation; and if the statement made by the late Cashier, February 13, 1819, be correct, the old bills will amount to $2915, thus reducing the bad or doubtful debts the sum of $28,606.
