

Students, want to win Hamilton tickets? #Hamilton4All

Alexander Hamilton had many bold ideas for America's economy, including the founding of the nation's first central bank. We want to hear your bold ideas for improving the economy where you live. You could win two free tickets to see Hamilton at the Orpheum Theatre and be offered an internship at the Minneapolis Fed!

To enter:

- 1. Follow @MinneapolisFed on Facebook, Twitter or Instagram.
- 2. Create a public post in 200 words or less with your bold ideas for improving the economy. Post on Twitter or Instagram, or post to the Minneapolis Fed Facebook feed. Posts can include photos and videos less than 60 seconds in length.
- 3. In your post/story/thread, tag @MinneapolisFed and #Hamilton4All.

The contest is open to high school and college students in the Federal Reserve's Ninth District. Entry deadline is September 25.
